

The invitation features a central white archway containing text and a rabbit illustration. The archway is surrounded by a decorative border of various Easter eggs in yellow, green, and brown, some with patterns like hearts, dots, or flowers. Small yellow flowers and green leaves are scattered throughout the design. The text is arranged vertically within the archway, starting with a headline, followed by a central illustration of a rabbit, then the main title, a descriptive paragraph, a date and time box, and finally the location and contact information.
